

ABSTRACT

Antibodies to a LAR phosphatase subunit, particularly antibodies having specificity to an intracellular domain of a phosphatase subunit, methods for generation thereof and cells producing these antibodies, and determination and examination methods of LAR/LAR derived molecules using these antibodies, as well as uses of these antibodies in diagnosis and therapy of thyroid cancer are disclosed.